

Proud to Celebrate 36 Years of the ADA

Celebrating the legacy of the Americans with Disabilities Act: Disability Rights, Identity, Culture, & Advocacy

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) was signed into law on July 26, 1990. It remains one of the most significant civil rights milestones in U.S. history. July is the month we come together to honor of this landmark legislation. We invite you to join us in learning more about the ADA, celebrating the disability community, amplifying disabled voices, learning from disability history, and continuing the work of building a more accessible and inclusive world.

The ADA Reminds Us That...

Disability is a natural part of human diversity.

Everyone deserves access, respect, and belonging.

Embracing your strengths and unique perspectives enriches everyone's lives

Disabled voices make our communities stronger.

Nothing About Us Without US

While progress has been made, disability advocates continue working toward full accessibility and inclusion for everyone, whether or not you consider yourself disabled!
